

Alumni of the Year Stephen Blanch

Stephen has contributed so much to the electricity industry throughout his life, working his way from an apprentice to becoming a Managing Director of Dellwind Pty Ltd. He has had positions both nationally and internationally with large electricity utilities. People that work with him, respect his work and his achievements, when he leaves an organisation his staff all wish to move with him, he has helped with the growth and development of many people within the electricity industry and is widely regarded for his knowledge and experience. He is currently on the board of directors of a large electricity generation business as well as on other boards for electricity related businesses. He continues to provide advice to the industry and was involved in the review of the Queensland electricity businesses for the QCA, and was also involved in the Lower Emissions Technology Advisory Group to the Government. He has been a mentor to many people in the industry and has helped develop my skills and knowledge within the industry. His strong regard, professionalism, business ethics and personal skills keep him in high stead with all that know him.
